Allowable Subject Matter

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The present invention is directed to a method and a graphic display system for horizontal scrolling a display window to the left and to the right. Each independent claim identifies the uniquely distinct features "blanking out one or more pixels at a beginning of a portion of graphics data by placing a read pointer at a location after that portion, the portion being aligned with a start address; and displaying the graphics data starting at the read pointer placed at a first non-blanked out pixel in the portion of the graphics data aligned with the start address." The closest prior art, Tateyama (US 5,515,077) teaches the method of horizontally scrolling a display window to the left comprising the steps of blanking out four bit color data (10, 10) (see Fig. 24 D) in one horizontal display period (Fig. 24 A, col. 8, lines 3-24), image is scrolled by one dots to the left (horizontal scroll +1) (Fig. 24E, col. 8, lines 50-52), a picture is displayed on the screen in plurality color mode for each "nH" (n rasters) (see Fig. 28, col. 8, lines 25-26). This distinct feature has been added to the sole independent claim and renders the above underlined limitation allowable and along with other limitations as recited in the independent claims 1, 7 and 13.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
